WINEMAKING:

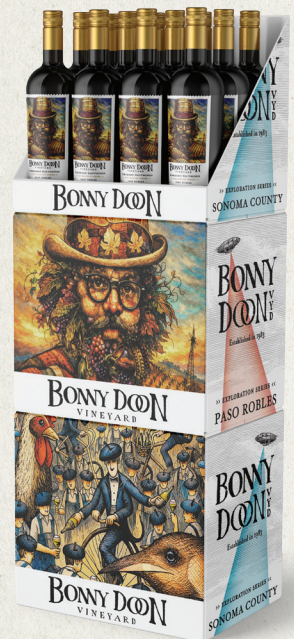

Let us begin in Paso Robles, which may well be one of the world's great places to grow Cabernet Sauvignon. Rich, bold, and velvety, with notes of blackberry, plum, and dark cherry born from fruit ripened in thermally intense afternoons. Brrr-ishly cold temperatures in the evenings preserve the wine's bright freshness and, one might say, give it a bit of voltage. A small portion of Syrah grapes adds depth and perhaps savory mischief, lending the wine a bit of distinctly Doonish flair.

LABEL ARTWORK:

The label artwork, drawn from the archives, may stir recognition in old friends and awaken curiosity in those just joining us.

Exploration and discovery have been at the heart of Bonny Doon Vineyard for over 40 years. With the Exploration Series, we turn our curious gaze toward classic wine regions and perhaps more familiar grape varieties, and invite you to explore them through a distinctly Doonish lens.
